Elizabeth Scott, CMAP staff, provided a detailed presentation of the ON TO 2050 Plan Update, including the timeline for approval. She identified areas of successes of the ON TO 2050 plan where progress has been made including in the areas of prosperity, environment, community. governance. and mobility. The ON TO 2050 Plan Update includes an update to the socioeconomic forecast data and travel demand model, a review of regionally significant projects (RSPs), and updates to the system performance analysis and targets, and plan indicators and targets. Elizabeth discussed the financial plan for transportation and discussed the air quality conformity finding.

8.02 ON TO 2050 Update/2023-2028 TIP Conformity Analysis and TIP Amendment 22-261

Attachments: TC\(ConformityMemo\)06-03-22

Russell Pietrowiak, CMAP Staff, provided an update to the region's ozone status. In May 2022, the US EPA designated the region to "attainment" for the 2008 ozone standard and "marginal nonattainment" of the 2015 ozone standard. However, a recently published federal register notice has identified that the region will be soon reclassified to "moderate nonattainment" of the 2015 ozone standard. The status of 2015 ozone stanard will likely be reclassified again to "serious" in 2024. As the region gets reclassified to more serious classifications, more restrictions are put in place related to emissions.

Under the Clean Air Act, CMAP is required to demonstrate that projects in the Transportation Improvement Projects (TIP) and ON TO 2050 regionally significant projects (RSPs) conform to the motor fuel budget emissions in our region. In November 2020, the US EPA switched to a new emissions model, requiring CMAP adopt the model by January 2023. CMAP has decided to move to the new model with the approval of the ON TO 2050 Plan update.

The memo that is included in the packet is subject to a 60 day public comment period that coincides with the ON TO 2050 Plan Update public comment period.

The ON TO 2050 Update/2023-2028 TIP Conformity Analysis and TIP Amendment was presented to the Board.
